ENGLISH KITCHEN AFFAIR.

Warrants for Attorney Sam Crossland, of Mayfield, and his son, Cas Crossland, for disorderly conduct, were sworn out and H. W. Taylor, 54 years old, proprietor of the English Kitchen, near the Union passenger station, has a dislocated shoulder, the result of an altercation in Taylor's place of business yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock.

Another development is the lodging of charges against Patrolman Aaron Hurley, of the depot beat, for neglect of duty in failing to arrest Crossland and his son after the difficulty.

H. W. Taylor was formerly a steamboat steward and later manager of the depot lunch stand. He resigned and started up in business at the old Bud Quarles saloon stand. Yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock Attorney Sam Crossland walked into the restaurant, Crossland called for a cup of coffee, and Taylor asked him to be seated at the counter where orders of coffee were served. He desired to keep his table linen clean.

The proprietor states that Attorney Crossland became insulted at the request, and began to curse and abuse him. Mrs. Taylor was in the rear, and ran out to investigate the trouble. At this juncture the son, Cas Crossland, entered. Taylor alleges that the son grabbed Mrs. Taylor by the wrist and violently pulled her into a corner of the room. This enraged him, and going from behind the counter he grabbed both men and pushed them into the screen door. Attorney Sam Crossland struck Taylor, the latter alleges, as he went out the door, dislocating his left shoulder. Dr. B. T. Hall was called and was forced to use chloroform in setting his shoulder. Taylor appeared before Magistrate Cross and swore out warrants against both Attorney Sam Crossland and his son Cas, who in the meantime had boarded the Louisville-Fulton accommodation train and gone home to Mayfield.

Patrolman Hurley involved. Taylor was worked up over the alleged conduct of Patrolman Aaron Hurley. He alleges that Mr. Hurley is guilty of willful neglect of duty, and today he saw Mayor Yeiser and Chief Collins. He stated regarding Patrolman Hurley:

"Patrolman Aaron Hurley was standing in the middle of the driveway running in front of my restaurant when the difficulty occurred, and heard both father and son call me vile names and abuse me shamefully. Moreover, he saw the elder Crossland strike the blow which dislocated my shoulder. No attempt was made by the patrolman to arrest either of the two. I have witnesses who will testify that Hurley saw the son, while on the Union station platform, pull a pistol from his pocket and declare he was coming over and kill me."

Patrolman Hurley's Statement. Patrolman Hurley made a brief statement regarding the matter to a reporter this morning as follows:

"I saw no difficulty except some scuffling at the door of Taylor's restaurant, and when I reached the place Attorney Sam Crossland was coming down the steps and greeted me. I have nothing to say about my conduct, but will await any charges preferred and meet them boldly. I am not afraid of any charges being substantiated against me. Had I seen the alleged difficulty I would have hesitated in arresting Attorney Crossland and his son without a warrant."

Patrolman Hurley has been on the force six years and always has proven himself an efficient officer, bravery, courage and fairness being characteristic of his actions.

PREPARING DESIGNS FOR PADUCAH SILVER SERVICE

Mayor Yeiser Loses No Time Getting Jewelers to Work in Accordance With Resolutions of General Council
Last Night

WILL COST $1,500 TO CITY

In accordance with the action of the general council, passing the resolution last night, to appropriate $1,500 with which to purchase a silver service for the gunboat, Paducah, Mayor Yeiser today set local jewelers to work preparing designs for the service, and at the earliest possible date a selection will be made. Mayor Yeiser also communicated with Commander Winterhalter, notifying him of the city's purpose, and arrangements will be made with the navy department, either to send the gunboat to Paducah, or decide upon some convenient port for the ceremony of presenting the silver service. A committee of the whole meeting was held by the general council last night, and the resolution that the service be purchased was passed unanimously. On adjourning, Mayor Yeiser immediately called the aldermen in session and the resolution was given two readings, and the first business in the council's regular session was the two readings of the resolution. Mayor Yeiser thought every property owner in the city should bear part of the expense, and figured that on each $1,000 worth of property between 12 and 15 cents would go for the silver service. The resolution went through all readings without a dissenting vote. No effort will be made to collect the $500 subscribed by citizens.

FALSE PRETENSES IS THE CHARGE AGAINST THOMAS

E. O. Thomas was held over to the grand jury this morning for obtaining money by false pretenses. It is alleged that he was in the employ of J. S. Downs & company's monumental works as soliciting contractor, and entered into a contract with Mrs. J. N. Hall, of Fulton, to construct a monument at a stipulated price, but making the contract in his own name, not that of J. S. Downs & company. He is charged he made out a duplicate contract, substituting the name of J. S. Downs & company for his own, and collected commissions on it, alleging that it was the original contract signed by Mrs. Hall. Mrs. Hall denies that it is, and Judge Cross held that the contract not being the original, the defendant is guilty of obtaining money by false pretenses. Thomas is married and has a family residing near Ninth and Trimble streets. He has always borne a good reputation and had worked for Downs for some time. He admits that he sent the original contract to an Illinois firm for bids, but later recalled it but failed to receive it back.

Wade Sowell Found Helpless in Memphis From Morphine Overdose

Memphis, Aug. 6.—Half submerged in the thick mud and slime amongst the willows at the foot of Adams avenue, J. Wade Sowell, son of A. B. Sowell, 1325 Broadway, of Paducah, Ky., was found in an unconscious condition at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His condition was produced by an overdose of morphine, believed by the police to have been taken with suicidal intent. Sowell was taken to the city hospital, and was revived after much hard work on the part of the attendants. Sowell is 30 years old and is a lumber inspector. He has been coming to Memphis four or five years and was stopping at Braun's hotel. He left the hotel yesterday morning in apparently the best of health and spirits, and no cause can be assigned for the attempted suicide. He was found by a number of boys, who notified the police station, and the patrol wagon was used in taking him to the hospital. Sowell has offered no explanation to the hospital authorities for his act.

MISS ALLEN'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD HERE

Mr. Will Rieke left this morning for Kenosha, Wis., to bring the body of Miss Rebecca Allen back to this city for burial. He will arrive in Kenosha tomorrow morning and leave immediately from Paducah, arriving here Thursday morning. A telegram from the Misses Morton at Flat Rock, N. C., received yesterday afternoon, announced that they would arrive Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral. No arrangements have been made, but the funeral probably will take place at Grace Episcopal church.

MARSHAL WADE BROWN TAKES WRONG TRAIN.

Wade Brown, deputy United States marshal, is a river man, for years engineer on various craft that play the rivers, and the whistling of engines, ringing of bells and confusion marking a busy day at Union station this morning, caused the popular officer to lose more than half a day in time. Deputy Marshal Brown intended going to Gilbertsville to serve papers in a civil action. He was talking to an acquaintance when the N. C. & St. L. train pulled out. Gilbertsville is on the Illinois Central road, and when the N. C. & St. L. train reached the crossing of the Illinois Central and whistled, Marshal Brown exclaimed, "that's my train," and, running like mad, succeeded in catching it, his acquaintance calling for him to return, realizing a mistake the officer did not see until he had gotten several miles out of town.

MATINEE RACES WILL BE GIVEN AUGUST 16

Excellent Condition of Local Horses and Outside Promises Favorable

Preparations for the best Matinee club races ever given in Paducah are being made for Friday, August 16, and the program will offer features warranted to attract attention from other cities.

It is stated that horses will be brought here from other nearby towns. Trainer Tom Settle stated today that every horse in the club stables is in excellent condition, and some are developing so fast that they will surprise even the owners and their friends.

The driving of C. L. Van Meter's horse, "Red Rock," to victory in the special match race against Billy Buck A. S. Thompson's horse, and Judge Burton, owned by Wynn Tully, by Trainer Settle, was a feat little expected. Many thought the Van Meter horse was too slow, but he lowered his former mark by several seconds, and it is said is going after the 1:10 clip for half mile. Red Rock has been under the personal care of Trainer Settle who promises to develop him to perfection.

BIG SKATING RINK BIDS IN THURSDAY

Contractors probably will have their bids in on Thursday for the large skating rink to be built at Tenth street and Broadway. Then the promoters may see the contractors' figures and get an idea of the cost of construction, and the building will be pushed to completion by October 1. Six hundred pairs of skates may be ordered as the floor space will accommodate that number of persons. It seems assured now that a fine natatorium will be added next year to the skating pavilion.

EIGHTH DISTRICT IS LAMBASTED

Judge Lightfoot Sees Reflection
in Demand For Roads

Statistics to Show That Other Districts Contributed Materially Toward Expense.

WILL ESCHEW PUBLIC LIFE.

An appeal for gravel road improvements in the Eighth district of McCracken county, brought a hot retort from County Judge R. T. Lightfoot, when a report from Magistrates Bleich, Rawlinson and Broadfoot, composing a committee of inspection of every road in the county, was read from the chair by County Judge Lightfoot at the monthly meeting of fiscal court this morning. Judge Lightfoot said residents of the Eighth district have virtually charged that money was being stolen from the road fund by County Road Supervisor Johnson and himself, and he felt justified in making the remarks after reading the report. The report made recommendations for minor repairs of several roads, pointed out defects here and there, and recommended permanent improvements in the way of iron bridges, concrete sewers and culverts. The report on the Eighth district, however, was the important part of the report. It was to satisfy all that the Eighth district was getting all coming to it and then "some more," that the committee was appointed and at an expense to the county. In the comparing the Eighth district with other districts in various ways, the report shows in gravel and dirt roads:

Fifth district—13 1/2 miles gravel and 36 3/4 dirt roads.

Sixth district—67 1/2 gravel, 41 1/2 dirt.

Seventh—17 1/2 gravel, 7 1/2 dirt.

Eighth—2 1/2 miles gravel, 72 1/2 dirt.

Districts furnish teams in improvements, assisting the county greatly financially in this way, and the comparative value of assistance by districts is as follows:

Fifth district—$4,418.61.

Sixth—$18,211.67.

Seventh—$4,781.28.

Eighth—Nothing.

The comparative number of acres in the districts: Fifth, 17,965; Sixth, 36,350; Seventh, 36,314; Eighth, 36,480.

Total assessed value of district, also per acre:

Fifth, $292,764; per acre, $16.25.

Sixth, $605,328; per acre, $16.65.

Seventh, $803,203; per acre, $22.

Eighth, $552,000; per acre, $15.17.

"Now you see, gentlemen," stated Judge Lightfoot "this report shows that the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh districts have each given one-half the price of gravel roads to secure them. Not a cent has the Eighth district given, yet it wants gravel roads. The report just read shows that it has more and better dirt roads than any other district. The report also shows that the committee finds money spent 'economically, judiciously and perfectly honestly.' Mr. Johnson's report shows us that the comparative expense of road improvements, and there was not the least scintilla of justification for any such petition as was lodged by more than 300 residents of the Eighth district."

The report was received and filed. Judge Lightfoot took occasion to further state that he never intended to be a county official again, and no matter how much good an official did, no one heard of it; but just wait until he made a mistake. "I have been charged with Mr. Johnson of taking this road fund," he stated, "you see the folly of such charge or insinuation, and I want to say this. Let the Eighth district come in and stand half the expense of gravel roads like the Fifth district did; like the Sixth did and the Seventh, which is by no means as rich a district. When it does, then give it gravel roads."

No Road Bond Election.

Action of fiscal court last night in voting to place before voters of McCracken county the question of voting on issuing $100,000 bonds for county road improvements was null and void, declares County Attorney Alben Barkley, and this is the opinion he will give fiscal court this afternoon before final adjournment. Mr. Barkley states that before fiscal court can authorize a vote on bond issues, 15 per cent of the county's voters must petition the court for the election. This was not done.

Knights of Pythias Plans.

Knights of Pythias last night initiated two candidates and made final preparations for 20 members of the local order to go to Mayfield Thursday to attend a big initiation. The lodge donated $5 to the Salvation army to assist in defraying expenses of the outing being gotten up by the army for poor children.

OPEN HOSTILITIES BEFORE CASA BLANCA

French and Spanish Warships
Bombard Villages Surrounding Town

Tangier, Aug. 6.—Open hostilities, resulting in the death of five officers and six sailors, the bombardment of villages surrounding Casablanca by the French and Spanish warships, and many casualties among the Moors and the threat to raze Casablanca, marked the most serious breach of trouble there today. The French admiral ordered 150 sailors ashore to protect the French consulate. Moorish troops and tribesmen opened fire on them. Five officers fell wounded at the first volley. Warships then began to bombard the harbor. The Moors quickly fell back. The French commander signified to the Moorish leader that he must surrender unconditionally or the bombardment would be continued.

ZION CITY IS NO MORE HOME OF DOWIE CHURCH

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 6.—Zion City, once the home of a worldwide creed, is no more. With the sale of the lace factories to a Chicago merchant, an ignoble end comes to the Christian Catholic church in Zion. NEW MARSHAL FOR MURRAY

Sharp, Ky., Aug. 6. (Special.)—James Brooks, boss of the gravel pit two miles above Sharp, was waylaid and shot last night by Tom Lyle, a young man, at a point on the Benton and Paducah road about a quarter of a mile from Brooks' home. Brooks is 40 years old, married and has one child. Lyle is 23 years old, the son of Verge Lyle, who lives about three miles from Sharp. Both are well known. The sheriff scoured the woods all night for Lyle, but did not find him.

The trouble started over the dimensions of Lyle's wagon. He has been hauling gravel for the public road and is required to haul a yard as a load. Brooks said Lyle's wagon would not hold a yard.

They quarreled and at evening Lyle borrowed a shotgun somewhere and hid along the roadside near Brooks' home until the latter drove past.

When Lyle fired, four shots struck Brooks in the face and he whipped up his horse and drove home. Lyle rushed on and shot again, but missed Brooks. Dr. Coleman, of Palma, was called and attended Brooks.

This afternoon the sheriff and his officers were still hunting for Lyle.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. is recognized everywhere not only as the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, but the one medicine that can be taken with absolute safety by everyone. Young or old, those in robust health, or those whose systems are delicate and run-down, may use it with the same good results, and equally without fear of any unpleasant or injurious after effects. Next in importance to removing the cause of any disease is the condition in which the system is left after a course of medical treatment. Medicines containing mercury, potash or other strong mineral ingredients often do permanent injury by eating out the delicate lining and tissues of the stomach, producing chronic dyspepsia, unfavorably affecting the bowels, and so deranging the system otherwise, that even if the original disease had been removed from the system it is left in such a weakened and deranged condition that the health is permanently impaired. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind. It is made entirely of the healing, cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks gathered directly from the forests and fields of nature, under our own supervision, and when they reach our laboratory contain all their original valuable tonic and blood purifying properties. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. Being made entirely from these vegetable ingredients S. S. S. is absolutely harmless to the system, and while curing disease adds health and strength to every part of the body. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles by removing the cause and supplying the circulation with health-giving and strength-producing qualities.

BURNING MOSCOW FINE SPECTACLE

Comes Up to Expectations in Every Particular

Reading Bombs, Wrecked Buildings and Grand Fireworks Display.

EXCELLENT VAUDEVILLE BILL.

Myriads of rockets, shells and bombs showing bright against the skyline, and the heavy booming of cannon and dynamite heralded the opening of "Moscow" while the satisfied shouts and applause of a vast audience set the seal of approval and stamped the great spectacle as an unqualified success. This great combination of shows as produced by Mr. Gregory affords an opportunity of study and learning by the mammoth historical pantomime so correctly staged and true to Russian life, while the vaudeville bill is one to satisfy the senses of the most critical and met with its deserved appreciation. The display of pyrotechnics with which the performance terminates stands in a class alone and attains the acme of fire works ingenuity and construction. Moscow will continue to be bombarded until Wednesday night inclusive, when the engagement closes.

Gregory's Moscow, one of the biggest spectacular shows ever witnessed in Paducah, was enjoyed by hundreds at Wallace park baseball grounds last night. The weather was threatening from early evening, and kept many away, but the grand stand was well filled, and a cloudless sky greeted the spectators as they left. A slight delay was occasioned by a special "set piece", the late arrival of the operators of the lights. No delay will be experienced tonight, it is assured.

Gregory's Burning of Moscow comes up to the advertisements and not a person left the show dissatisfied. The program teems with features.

Human statues posing on a fountain base with the background illuminated with Greek fire opens the bill, and are followed by acrobats in marvelous feats of strength and agility. Parallel bar and horizontal bar performers follow, and a contortionist also wins much applause. There is a genuine Russian dance, clown antics, acrobatic tumbling and many other features that would make the show worth going to see.

Following these features comes the destruction of the town by nihilists. This starts the fireworks, which are by far the best ever seen in Paducah. Sky rockets and bombs, emitting floating balls of fire of every hue, and blinding brilliancy, are sent off from the park hill across the lake. The fireworks within the park were unlike any thing ever seen in the city before. Designs of the American flag and a beautiful rose, with petals and leaves carried out in the correct colors, elicited much applause.

Deal's band furnishes the music.

SIMPLE CURE FOR ECZEMA.

If you are one of those unfortunate who have doctored for a long time or have suffered in silence with any of those dreaded forms of skin disease, ask yourself why you have not tried that refreshing, soothing external liquid, D. D. D. Prescription.

Don't dose the stomach—cure the skin through the skin. After washing with D. D. D. soap apply a few drops of D. D. D. Prescription and there is INSTANT relief!

"For three years I have suffered indescribable torture from an aggravated case of eczema of the hands, known as 'tetter,'" writes E. Clifton Taylor, of Germantown, Philadelphia. "The itching and burning at times was almost unbearable, and everything I used—salves, ointments and washes—only added to my discomfort."

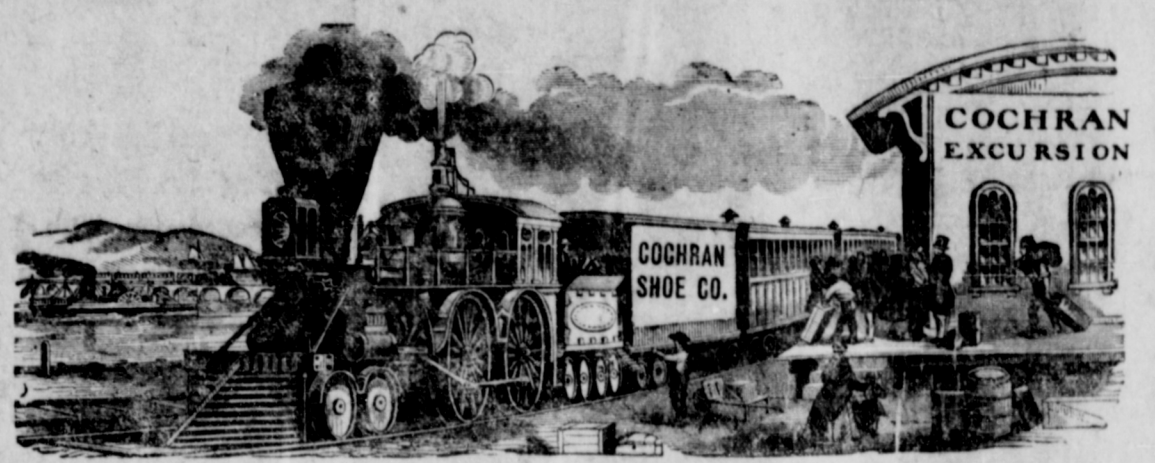

"Then I immediately began the systematic use of D. D. D. Prescription—supplemented by D. D. D. soap, and now, after the use of six bottles I am happy to announce myself CURED."

"I am also cured of the habit of using ordinary soap. I am recommending D. D. D. soap and D. D. D. Prescription to everybody."

No more dosing the stomach with useless drugs. No more smearing of greasy ointments on yourself to vex your temper and stain your clothes. A simple wash, and your agonies and sufferings disappear and with it soon the humiliation of showing a distressed face.

Thousands who have been cured have written their gratitude for D. D. D. Prescription, and you can see their letters at our drug store. We vouch for the remedy and we back the words of the manufacturer. R. W. WALKER & CO., Fifth and Broadway, Paducah, Ky.

Railroad Horror in France.

Angers, France, Aug. 6.—Forty passengers and the engineer were drowned this afternoon in one of the worst railroad disasters ever known in France.

The wreck occurred at Les Ponts de Ce, three miles southeast of Angers, where the railroad crosses the River Loire over a stone bridge. A local train crowded with home-going holiday makers left the track just at the entrance to the bridge.

The heavy locomotive smashed through the stone wall guarding the approach and plunged into the Loire. Immediately behind the engine were the baggage and third-class passenger cars. These followed it into the river.

GEO. ADE'S FABLES

The Lecture Tickets That Were Bought, but Never Used.

(Copyright, 1902, 1903, by Robert Howard Russell.)

IN THE FAMILY ALBUM.

Once there was a Man living in a Town and he had a Cousin whom he never had seen. Some people are very lucky as to their Relatives. The Man who lived in the Town was a Wicked Metropolis was named Sanford. Sanford lived out in the Woods was known as Life, although his real Name was Lafayette. Every Christmas Sanford would send Life some kind of a stinky Gift, and then Life would retaliate by shipping in a fat Turkey for Thanksgiving. There was a formal Exchange of Letters about twice per Year. Sanford was a good deal upset one day to receive Word that Cousin Lafayette was coming to spend a Week. Whatever Joy he felt he did not show at all.

The visiting Cousin is liable to be a Pierce Proposition under the most favorable Conditions, but it is more than Hard Luck to be saddled with one who is a Total Stranger. Sanford was hoping that the Train would run off the Track, but he wrote Cousin Life to be sure and come right to the House.

Sanford saw a very pink Week ahead of him. He was not very strong for the Chaperon Game. He could see himself neglecting Business in order to lead Cousin Life around and show him the Sky-Scraper, the Animals in the Park, the Eden Musee, and the big Engine in the Power-House. He had observed that the Excentricist is always keen to see a lot of Sights that are a Sealed Book to the Man who lives right in the City.

Sanford tried to get a Line on Cousin Life as to frame up the right kind of a Programme. He could tell by the Picture in the Family Album that Life was a Pure Character and somewhat of a Rub. He wore a White Tie and had his Hair gummed down on his Forehead. He looked as if he would like to be a Preacher but could not quite make it. His open Countenance had that sweet and trusting Expression of the Hubbard Squash who is willing to give two Tens for a Five.

So far as Sanford could learn, Cousin Life was a kind of moral Sign-Board and snow-white Object Lesson in the Jay Town which claimed him as its own. He was a Cemetery Trustee and Chairman of the Committee to solicit Funds for a new Y. M. C. A. building. Also he had been prominent in the Sunday-Closing Movement and the Main Kazoo in the Citizens' Reform League.

Accordingly, Sanford had all the Drinkables removed from the Side-board, and he warned the Children not to Laugh while Cousin Life was saying Grace at the Table. Then he went out and bought some Tickets for a Lecture, and got a written Permit to go through the Car-Shops. He went to the Station to meet the rural Lamb and protect him against the Cabmen. He saw a Hot Sport with a news-Suit of Clothes and a Red Tie come through the Gate, but he did not spot anything that resembled a Cemetery Trustee. While he was still waiting, the Hot Sport came up and walloped him on the Back and introduced himself.

"What do you think?" asked the President of the Yaptville Citizens' Reform League. "I got into a Poker Game with two of them Key Drummers on the Train and trimmed them for $7 Samoleons. If the Train had been a half hour late I'd have got their Sample-Cases. I've got a Roll here that would choke a Horse, and I have a Feeling that I am about to Buy. We drank up everything in the Dining-Car except the Catsup before we got to Springfield, and I wouldn't take $7 for my Thirst. By the way, I want to tell you that I've left my Pajamas at Home, and you might as well move the Bed out of my Room, because I won't need it. If you have any Word to send to your Folks before we cut loose, step into the Box

We strongly recommend Vinol to all who are weak and run-down from any cause,—particularly to delicate women and children, old people and for those who have pulmonary troubles. up here among the Electric Lights with no one to keep Cases on me. I am long on Sleep, and I have Money in every Pocket. I'm up here to play a short Engagement as the Village Indian. If you care to follow me, I think I can put you in right and probably show you a good many Places that you never saw before, even if you do live right in Town.

Sanford tried to be Game, but in two Days Cousin Life had him Down and Out. He fell back and took the Count. Cousin Life took him Home in a Hack and roasted him, and told him he was a Rhinestone Sport and a Mack-erel.

"I'm all in," said the Wreck. "I admit everything you say. The Man who lives in Town and thinks he is a Gay Dog isn't a Marker alongside of the Respectable Citizen from down the Road. I am supposed to be a dissolute Clubman, but I take off my Hat to a Cemetery Trustee."

Cousin Life went back to the Country and reported that Sanford was a Nice Man but seemed to be a little Wild.

THE PANAMA CANAL ENTRANCE PLANS CONSIDERED.

Defense of Almirante Bay Is Embraced in Survey Being Made By Navy.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The navy department is completing a work which may have an important bearing on the general plan of defense of the projected Panama canal. The final chart work incidental to the survey of Almirante Bay, off the coast of Panama, is being made ready for the hydrographic office.

Admiral Crowninshield, when chief of the navigation bureau ten years ago, first realized the possibilities of Almirante Bay as a naval rendezvous and coaling station. He went as far as he could in the absence of congressional appropriations to avail of this sheet of water by using it for drill purposes and projected a considerable training station to be located there.

Even now the bay is used to some extent by naval vessels as a coaling ground, and while it has no dock or machinery, the fine shelter afforded makes it easy for a warship to replenish her coal from colliers directly alongside.

"In the far corner lies William the Conquer; behind the origin, where you can't see 'em, are the tooms of Guy Fox, Robin Hood and Cardinal Wolsey. Now, does that guide book, as I see you 'ave in your 'and and tell you who is lyin' here, sir?" The Skeptical Tourist—"No; but I can guess."

NOT HEREDITARY.

Baldness Due to a Living Minute Germ.

Many people, even unto the present day of grace, consider baldness due to hereditary influence.

Nothing is farther from the truth—Baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair—causing it to lose its life and fall out.

This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbro's Herpicide.

No matter how badly the scalp is effected the Dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied.

"Destroy the cause and you remove the effect."

China, and Not Japan, Giving Concern To The United States Government

Washington, Aug. 6.—It is China, and not even remotely Japan, that has aroused the concern of the Washington authorities in connection with choosing the Pacific as the next practice ground for a big battleship squadron, according to the deductions of some students of affairs in the Far East.

China, as an entity, it is believed in certain circles, is in a condition as precarious as the health of the dowager empress, and that when the falling health of the latter leads to the inevitable end, the empire will face a crisis that will make it wise for the United States to have a presentable naval force within easy distance.

Commercial Interests Know.

Little regarding the situation suggested by the above statements has been spoken in official or diplomatic circles, but commercial interests profess to have been keen observers of what is going on.

From sources connected with the latter comes the report that some time ago the administration here was quietly apprised that the health of the dowager empress was failing fast, and that when she goes to join "the guests on high" China will become the prey of plotters seeking to overthrow the Manchu Tartar dynasty.

At the same time, the Powers are deemed likely to take advantage of the situation again by going in for a partition of the empire, the possible closing of the open door that means so much to America, and toward undoing that which in the Far East

American statesmen have accomplished.

Attitude of Powers.

Whatever happens the possible attempt to seize the government by a strong leader outside the present dynasty, or the exerting of the influence of the same leader and others to restore the descendants of the old Ming family to the throne—the chances are several to one that the Powers will find an excuse to get into the game to subserve their own interests.

A Personal Impression.

"Ah, I have an impression!" exclaimed Dr. McCosh, the president of Princeton college, to the mental philosophy class. "Now, young gentlemen," continued the doctor, as he touched his head with his forefinger, "can you tell me what an impression is?"

No answer. "What, no one knows? No one can tell me what an impression is," exclaimed the doctor, looking up and down the class.

"I know," said Mr. Arthur. "An impression is a dent in a soft place."

"Young gentlemen," said the doctor, removing his hand from his forehead and growing red in the face, "you are excused for the day."—Judge.

Dead Man Returns.

Fulton, Ky., Aug. 6.—Jack Woodard, a resident of this city, who was reported to have been shot from ambush while visiting in Colorado, returned home last night very much alive. Relatives here were notified that Woodard had been assassinated while traversing a lonely Colorado road. Local papers printed the story and specials were sent out to Memphis and Louisville papers. Mr. Woodard's friends were as surprised to learn that he was alive as Woodard was to learn that he had been reported dead and buried. He is unable to explain the origin of the false report.

Inventor—That airship of mine reminds me of an old hen. Friend—What's the answer? It roosts better than it flies.

Paducah leads the Purchase in tobacco sales, and she leads by a long head, too, according to the figures of the Dark Tobacco Growers' association. Slowly the Pride of the Purchase is regaining her old-time prestige, and there are many things the citizens could do to build up the local tobacco business. As the metropolis of this section Paducah should truly represent in her market and industries the whole section.

Riots in the foreign colonies of the great cities are only sporadic manifestations of a condition that exists there, and can only be remedied by the scattering of the inhabitants. Each consignment of immigrants, that goes to increase the population of the crowded Ghettos and European settlements, but adds to the spirit of unrest and anarchy. The process of Americanization of foreigners in the great centers of population is slow and marked with blood.

THE SILVER SERVICE.

The Sun has favored raising a fund for the silver service to be given to the gunboat Paducah by popular subscription. Little liking the general principle of diverting public funds from their legitimate use of paying the operating expenses of the government. But, since the general council has seen fit to proceed by appropriating the money, The Sun is not inclined to be hyper-critical, realizing the presentation of the service will prove a profitable investment in many ways, and that the real burden on the taxpayers in itself is so slight as to be insignificant. An advantage in this method of raising funds is, that every property holder and every renter of property contributes an equitable share toward the expense of the silver service. Had a popular subscription been raised, possibly a few men would have given the whole amount, and those not able to contribute so much, would have lost interest in the city's famous namesake. Had a popular subscription been started when the boat was first built and been made up of small contributions from the school children and public, and a persistent effort been put forth to secure a few cents from every citizen, a truly patriotic impulse would have been represented. But we are glad the city is going to do the right thing, even though we do not wholly approve of the plan.

Did not one know of the teeming thousands on New York's sidewalks, he might think the whole city was organized into a mob. But when one considers the fact that nearly a million strangers are there every day looking for amusement, he can readily understand how a crowd of spectators to a street fight, may in the dull season be transformed into a howling, angry mob, by the substitution of one word.

Judging from the headquarters reports of the warring political factions in Mississippi, some patriots voted too often in the enthusiasm for their champions.

Headlines over the most recent Russian news says, "Gen. Karangosoff," and it might be added, suddenly, too.

AUGUSTUS ST. GAUDENS.

Conservative encyclopedists and compilers of biography have cautiously put down Augustus St. Gaudens as one of the leading American sculptors. The leading American sculptors themselves have not been so guarded in their estimates. They have recognized in him the greatest of them all, a man whose achievements have put him side by side with the leading sculptors of the world. Pre-eminence has been his because in no department of his art was he lacking. Some sculptors have been distinguished by delicacy, others by poetry, others by extreme naturalness, sensitivity of perception, wonderful sympathy with the subject; all these qualities St. Gaudens possessed, and scattered through his work they are all in evidence. The really great man, conscious of his powers, and sure of himself, is privileged only, as was St. Gaudens, to throw off the conventional restraint of his art and succeed in the boldness and freedom of individual purpose.

A sculptor with his studio in a little village in the Cornish hills, St. Gaudens nevertheless belonged to the nation and many cities claimed him through his work. Boston praises him for the Shaw memorial, New York for the Sherman statue and the figure of Diana, Springfield for "The Puritan," Washington for the poetic cemetery figure, "The Peace of God," Chicago for the statues of Lincoln and Logan. In Europe his genius has been recognized and his work exhibited at the Paris exposition has been classed by critics as unexcelled in its inspirational happiness and commanding qualities. To Chicago perhaps belongs the distinction of pointing to the statue of Lincoln as the most impressive monument to the genius of St. Gaudens. Absolutely devoid of a single accompanying feature that might attract the attention from the actuality of the subject, and composed under the severest conditions of plainness and ruggedness, the figure stands out unpoetic, unidealized, but a marvelous conception of a man, as some one has said, "great because he was great." If no other evidence of the power of St. Gaudens were accessible the figure at the entrance of Lincoln park would still claim the admiring recognition of the world.—Chicago Tribune.

"Two men in Kentucky" who went hunting last week shot an Australian kangaroo. The African python they saw at the same time probably got away," says the Chicago Tribune.

Certainly. When a Kentuckian sees an African python in a place, where there couldn't possibly be any snakes, he generally wishes it to get away.

Citizens generally will approve the suggestion of Mayor Yeiser for an ordinance compelling property owners to cut weeds. Waiting for the board of health to declare each specific instance, in which weeds are allowed to stand, a nuisance, and then prove it in the police court, is too slow to be of any real benefit. Property owners should be compelled to cut weeds. Another change would expedite the work of the street department. If every property holder would clean the grass out of his own sidewalk, and leave the street force free to clean gutters, a vast deal more ground would be covered, and complaint lessened.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER

SLEEPLESSNESS.

Do you know what makes people lay awake and toss and roll about at night? Doctors tell you there are various causes, I tell you it's stomach trouble. I know it because I've seen thousands of cases and watched them.

A stomach that is over-crowded with undigested matter effects every organ of the human body. It causes nervousness, headaches, constipation, impure blood, poor circulation and dulls the mind. It makes one restless and uneasy. When your stomach is working right you feel right. You sleep well and you eat well.

People come to me day after day and tell me they can't rest after eating. They have a dull headache. At night they go to bed simply because they are exhausted. They catch a few cat naps and get up in the morning feeling as worn out as they did before.

I have recommended Cooper's New Discovery, a regular diet, regular habits and invariably these same people come to me afterwards and tell me they feel much better because they eat well and sleep well.

Herewith is a sample:

A letter I received from Mrs. Geo. Weisel, 1121 Providence Road, Scranton, Pa., says:
 "I suffered for three years from stomach trouble, inactive liver and rheumatism. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I lay awake night after night. I had no pleasure in life and could scarcely do my work about the house. I heard from a neighbor of Cooper's New Discovery and I bought two bottles of it. It helped me right away. Now I have a good appetite and never suffer from indigestion. I sleep well and awake refreshed. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for what this medicine has done for me."

The Cooper medicines have a larger sale than any medicine on the market. Our customers speak highly of them. W. B. McPherson, Drugist.

WORTH TWO BITS

COUNTRYMAN LEARNED MEANING OF TRIPOD AND POT.

Contributions Being Received for Salvation Army Outing to Poor—List of Latest Givers.

"Some people get so close to an ash heap that they miss the scenery," says Captain Meaker, of the Salvation Army, who is running a pure milk and ice charity, an anti-suicide bureau, street revival meetings and slum work, with the aid of his little band of salvation warriors combating sin and disease, going about doing good.

In addition to this they are planning a picnic for August 15, at which they will have as many guests as the pot provides for. The pot is boiling! So far Captain Meaker reports:

Personally reported.....$71.27
 Answer to letter.....1.00
 Kettle (Fourth and B'way).....5.51

Total, Aug. 5.....$77.78

Don't get so interested in your business or pleasure that you miss the chance to practise a little self-denial and help a worthy cause. All can help. All ought to help. Every cent will be used to make some less fortunate mortal happy. Take or send your offering. Keep the pot boiling!

The tripod and the kettle is a new institution in Paducah. Country folks who do not read the papers or can't read the card on the kettle stand in little groups now and then in wonder and amazement.

One long, lanky fellow stood for some time while the pot was boiling in front of a bank yesterday morning. He was puzzled. He looked at the bank, then said to the Salvationist standing by the pot, "Say, do you weigh the money?"

When the real significance of the combination was explained to him he opened up his wallet. "That's with two bits," he remarked as he helped it boil.

The Knights of Pythias last night voted to send $5 to the Salvation Army outing and relief fund. Several other lodges contemplate helping, too.

In Police Court.

The firm of A. M. Leavison & Co. charged with selling spirituous, vinous and malt liquors without a city license, was dismissed in police court this morning on producing a city license procured after a warrant was issued. It was charged that the firm bought a quantity of beer and hauled it to its plant and disposed of it.

In Bankruptcy.

Cars Strike Pattern Shop.

Employees in the Illinois Central railroad planing mill, pattern department, had a second narrow escape from injury this morning just as the noon whistle blew, when a switch engine working in the well filled yards, shoved a cut of box cars into the mill. The cars struck double doors near the southwest end of the mill. Lockers containing supplies for the pattern department, stood against the doors, and were hurled to the floor and across the bench of Harry Judd, a pattern maker, who had left his work but a few seconds, and had gotten but a few feet away. The accident was due to too much slack in the bad order cars.

All's Well.

Corn grows inches overnight.
 Hay is in the mow.
 All the kentry's smilin'
 Where is trouble now?

Plenty stuff fer feedin'
 Man an' beast an' fowl;
 All the world's a laughin';
 Where's the chance to growl?

Horn of plenty's tryin'
 For to overflow;
 Who would care to listen
 Fer a wail o' woe?

Put your best foot foremost,
 Poverty's in pawn!
 All the world's a laughin';
 Trouble's dead an' gone!

HOT WEATHER SUGGESTIONS.

Every chance acquaintance, these hot days, can tell you what to do to keep well and cool, but the safest advice is keep close to Nature.

Nature says don't drink very much ice water—use the tempered water.

Don't eat heating dishes, warm meats, and heavy vegetables, but confine yourselves to light vegetables and fruits, and cold meats.

Nature, also says, and its injunction is in strong terms, to keep the system in good condition, the liver, bowels, stomach, kidneys and skin as every one contributes to health or ill health.

Osteopathy is Nature's treatment, and the most rational for all disease, especially the ailments incident to hot weather. Those weak, tired out and run-down conditions; dull headaches; disturbed, bowel conditions, and torpid liver yield quickly to its application.

But, let me tell you any time, of people you know well, who will cheerfully tell you what Osteopathy has done and is doing for them. That is unprejudiced evidence and will appeal to you. Dr. G. B. Froage, 516 Broadway, upstairs, Phone 1407.

Sanderson, Mayfield; Grover Neblett, point to a 20 per cent raise in pay calling for more troops, with the actual shortage of men in the army even on a peace footing, will make it necessary, it is thought, to increase the pay.

Dance at The Magnolia.

One of the most delightful dances

Parsons' hospitable home, complimentary to Miss Jennie Bauld, of Chicago; Miss Bessie Trovillion, of Bloomington, Ind.; Miss Estelle Burnett and Miss Clara Bainbridge, of

The spacious, beautiful home with its wide porches and broad expanse of lawn, was brilliantly illuminated with many electric lights. Dancing was in the pavilion on the lawn and an orchestra stationed on a porch played delightful music.

A generous punch bowl was an attraction between dances and Mayor Parsons, with his usual admirable hospitality, left nothing to be desired by his guests for their unalloyed pleasure.

Among the guests in addition to the especially honored ones mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dietz, of Moline, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H.

was informal, but the forty guests present enjoyed the program. The musical was given on the lawn, which was prettily decorated, and

"The Mercy of Coming Events."

We must all wonder, for a moment now and then, what strange new "brew" is being prepared for us by the busy forces which we name "Circumstances."

In the home life the exit of a servant; in the store, "some thing happens" to our best clerks; in every business venture something "upsets" our favorite plan. If we own property, our best tenant leaves, or our neighbor sells his property at a big profit—while we "hold on" to ours, not willingly.

Emerson expressed it:
"Man imprisoned in mortal life, lies open to the mercy of coming events."

And the truth has led us to consider ways and means for "taking the sting out of" these coming events — for turning them into endurable burdens. And of these ways and means which we have created, the chiefest is Want Advertising. A wise use of this modern convenience, this instrument of service, Not only makes coming events merciful—it makes us to contemplate them without trepidation.

EMPERORS MEET

WILLIAM AND NICHOLAS SPEND DAY ON SEA.

Swinemunde Distinguished by Presence of Heads of Two Countries.

Swinemunde, Aug. 6.—Emperor William, of Germany, and Emperor Nicholas, of Russia, have spent the entire day together at sea.

The review of Germany's fleet was witnessed in the morning from the German battleship Deutschland, and this evening there was a reception on board the Russian imperial yacht Standard.

Semi-official communication regarding the meeting of the sovereigns declares that their conferences have served further to strengthen friendly relations between them and the meeting has given proof of the good understanding existing today between the leading statesmen of the two countries. Every question of international character actually pending has been the subject of thorough discussion between the emperors and their statesmen with the result that views held thereon have been found to be in absolute accord. It was agreed that the recent occurrences in Morocco are not likely to create any international misunderstanding because of the clear and friendly explanation of the situation made by the French foreign minister to Prince Von Radolin, German ambassador to France and determination of all signatories to carry out the terms of the Algeiras convention. It is declared from the same semi-official source that neither alliances of Russia and Germany nor the relations between either power with other powers have been affected as a result of the meeting in course of which both rulers express the most earnest desire for the present period of peace in the world to continue and adding the hope that the Swinemunde meeting would assist in the maintenance of universal confidence in peace.

At the Church Gate.
Although I enter not,
Yet round about the spot
Ofttimes I hover;
And near the sacred gate,
With longing eyes I wait,
Expectant of her.

The Minister bell tolls out
Above the city's rout
And noise and humming;
They've hushed the Minister bell;
The organ 'gins to swell;
She's coming; she's coming!

My lady comes at last,
Timid and stepping fast,
And hastening hither,
With modest eyes downcast;
She comes—she's here—she's passed!
May Heaven go with her!

Kneel undisturb'd, fair saint!
Pour out your praise or plaint
Meekly and duly!
I will not enter there
To sully your pure prayer
With thoughts unruly.

But suffer me to pace
Round the forbidden place,
Lingering a minute!
Like outcast spirits who wait
And see through Heaven's gate
Angels within it.

JOHN D. TALKS STRAIGHT TO POINT

Would Put Standard on Basis of Equity and Right

Says He Is In Evening of Life and Would Seek Love and Respect of His Fellowmen.

SUNDAY MEETING OF HEADS.

The Chicago Tribune says: Directors of the Standard Oil company met yesterday in the most memorable session ever held by the heads of the giant corporation. It is said to be the first time in the history of the company that a meeting has been held on Sunday, and it is also the first time in recent years that the president, John D. Rockefeller, has attended one.

The event marks a crisis in the affairs of the great trust, and its effect on the future policy of the company, as well as upon the future policies of other great aggregations of capital, is almost beyond calculation. It is believed that inestimable good will result from the meeting and that a better understanding will in future exist between the government and corporations in general.

The extraordinary meeting of yesterday was in response to urgent telegrams sent out by Mr. Rockefeller Saturday evening after the full text of Judge Landis' staggering decision had been printed in the Cleveland papers. Mr. Rockefeller himself immediately took the Twentieth Century Limited at Cleveland and arrived in New York early Sunday morning. H. H. Rogers, although still weak from a recent illness, came down Fairhaven in his private car. William Rockefeller arrived by a special train from his estate in upper New York, and both Mr. Flagler and Mr. Archbold came in on special trains from their country places. Each of the great magnates was driven immediately to 26 Broadway, the New York offices of the company, and the memorable meeting was called to order by the president shortly after 2 o'clock.

The oil king was looking well, but his associates were struck by the fact that the keen, aggressive, merciless face of the Rockefeller of ten years ago had disappeared beneath the softening effects of time and wholesome country living. If it had not been for the thin lips, tightly drawn, one would have thought there was a touch of sadness in his face. When the man whose genius, energy, and craft have created the greatest industrial corporation in history arose to speak the room became absolutely silent.

"My friends, you are probably surprised to find me back in the harness again. It's the first time I've been in this building for—let's see—nearly six years, isn't it, Henry? I thought I had thrown the cares of business off my shoulders some time ago, and was going to be allowed to play awhile. I thought you boys could run the business all right."

Mr. Rockefeller smiled faintly and then resumed speaking.
"Recent events, that is, within the last three or four years, have convinced me that I can do more good in the world by speaking here this afternoon than by building colleges. That's why I called this meeting. I intend to formulate and inaugurate a new policy that shall govern the Standard Oil company so that it will become a model for business concerns that wish to attain to honorable success instead of being a model for those who wish to win dishonorable business success."

"I'm getting to be an old man, I am still supposed to be the head of this company, although, as you know, I have taken no active part in its affairs for some years. At the same time, I am the president of it and the chief beneficiary of its gigantic dividends. These amount to between 40 and 48 per cent a year. They pour in on me in a volume of useless millions. As president, I am going to make it my last official act to demand that hereafter every person connected with the Standard Oil company shall obey the spirit as well as the letter of the country's laws. Also, I am going to demand that the utmost publicity be given to all the company's business affairs. If they are not the sort to stand publicly, we shall discontinue them. If the Standard Oil company is not great enough to be above board in its methods, no other concern in the world can."

"I am getting to be an old man. We are all getting on in years. In ten years or less we shall not be here. I want to feel that when I leave there will be people who will be grateful that I've lived and sorry that I've gone. It is not pleasant to think that now, after 50 years of business life, I stand convicted in the courts of half a dozen states and that the organization that I have built up is the most distrusted and detested concern in the world. This company stands convicted of breaking, in nearly every possible way, the laws of the country whose mercy and protection have made its success possible."

"If I should die tomorrow I should feel that the crimes of my right hand would ring louder in the ears of posterity than the benefactions of my left hand."

"I am in the evening of my life, where a man wants to feel that he has the affection and good will of his fellow men. And yet at this time the papers and the sentiment of the nation are ringing with threats of prison. A judge has inflicted the greatest possible fine and his action wins the approval of the country. The only dissenting opinion comes from those who say that the verdict is excessive or that it may not stand the test of the higher courts. No one thinks we are innocent."

"They say we have crushed competition. That is true, as we all know. They say we have had secret dealings with the railroads and have thus gained advantages not enjoyed by our less powerful rivals. That is true, as we all know. It seemed that success was best gained in that way, and success was the one goal we were seeking. We got success. We felt that the end justified the means. We crushed everything and everybody that stood in our way. We have not respected the laws that interfered with our success, for we employed the best of legal talent to shield us from the penalties which the violation of those laws entailed. There has not been a legal trick that we have not squirmed through. Our record is not a pleasant one for an old man to contemplate."

"We have pleaded technicalities instead of innocence, and until last Saturday we have managed to escape every penalty except the hatred of our countrymen."

"Hereafter, my friends, the Standard Oil company shall evade no laws nor violate any. If there are methods or conditions that are illegal or heartless, those must be remedied or removed. We must not strangle the little competitors, our weaker brothers, for such cases can be appealed to a higher court than the United States supreme court, and technicalities will not avail us. The creed of Standard Oil must hereafter be submission to law and justice."

The effect of Mr. Rockefeller's speech and the inauguration of his new policy in Standard Oil affairs is certain to have a tremendous effect on American business methods. It is believed that the example he has set will do untold good in cleansing the business life of this country, for his connection with nearly all the great industries and railroads of the nation makes his influence for good in this direction greater than that of the president of the United States.

Thousands of telegrams of congratulations and good will were sent to Mr. Rockefeller last evening and he feels that his efforts are already bearing rich rewards.

In the headlines over the story the Tribune says:

"This is not true."

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Mary E. Browne, who left her husband here three years ago to earn her living as a sculptor in Denver, returned at his solicitation three weeks ago, bringing with her $1,800 which she had saved. Yesterday Mrs. Browne attended the Laura Matthews funeral, and when she returned both money and husband were missing.

There are in London a round dozen churches named after St. Mary, nearly all of them belonging to a single group closely packed together, showing that they all came from the one great parish of Aldermay.

Insurance News.

The regard in which the department "With Insurance Men" in the Chicago Record-Herald has long been held by insurance and business men has been increased as a result of the San Francisco conflagration. The Record-Herald gave its readers the latest and most accurate information as to insurance losses there, and was the only paper to send a special representative to San Francisco to devote his attention to the insurance side of the disaster. The department has also had exclusive information of nearly all of the reinsurance of companies and other important changes resulting from the conflagration. It constantly furnishes accurate and concise information on all important changes in the insurance world, fire, life and casualty. It has an extensive exchange with the insurance department of the Journal of Commerce in New York, and through that covers the news at the home offices of the companies and secures its cable service from abroad. All insurance men read this column, and business men who realize the growing importance of insurance are learning the value of keeping informed through it.

WHY NOT JOIN THE Income Extension SOCIETY?

Your salary, wages, fees, commissions—no matter in what guise your income reaches you—should not entirely "satisfy" you. You should be alert to "piece it out", to extend it. For that is merely "making the most of it."

"THE INCOME EXTENSION SOCIETY" is purely a fictitious name for a very real and very active class of people in this city—THE PEOPLE WHO USE THE CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING COLUMNS OF THE SUN.

Some of these "income extenders" use the classified ads. for securing better employment, with higher wages. Some of them find them useful in securing private pupils for otherwise idle evenings. Some secure tenants, boarders, roomers, buyers for the not-used things in the house.

If you will look over the classified columns of THE SUN today you will get a hint of the sort of people who believe in "income extension" and how they go about the matter.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized from the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

Pandemonium reigned on the floor of the Stock Exchange. White faced disheveled buyers shouted and struggled like men possessed to execute the orders of their clients. Big financial houses which stood to lose millions on a falling market rallied and by rush orders to buy attempted to stem the tide, but all to no purpose. One firm after another went by the board, unable to weather the tempest, until just before closing time the stock ticker announced the failure of the Great Northwestern Mining company. The drive in the market had been principally directed against its securities, and after vainly endeavoring to check the bear raid it had been compelled to declare itself bankrupt. It was heavily involved, assets all, stock almost worthless. It was probable that the creditors would not see 10 cents on the dollar. Thousands were ruined, and Judge Rossmore among them. All the savings of a lifetime—nearly $55,000—were gone. He was practically penniless at a time when he needed money most. He still owned his house in Madison avenue, but that would have to go to settle with his creditors. By the time everything was paid there would only remain enough for a modest competence. As to his salary, of course he could not touch that so long as this accusation was hanging over his head, and if he were impeached it would stop altogether. The salary, therefore, was not to be counted on. They must manage as best they could and live more cheaply, taking a small house somewhere in the outskirts of the city, where he could prepare his case quietly without attracting attention.

Stott thought this was the best thing they could do, and he volunteered to relieve his friend by taking on his own hands all the arrangements of the sale of the house and furniture, which of for the judge accepted only too gladly. Meantime Mrs. Rossmore went to Long Island to see what could be had, and she found at the little village of Massapequa just what they were looking for—a commodious, neatly furnished two-story cottage at a modest rental. Of course it was nothing like what they had been accustomed to, but it was clean and comfortable, and, as Mrs. Rossmore said, rather tactless, beggars cannot be choosers. Perhaps it would not be for long. Instant possession was to be had, so a deposit was paid on the spot, and a few days later the Rossmores left their mansion on Madison avenue and took up their residence in Massapequa, where their advent created quite a flutter in local social circles.

Stott was given a room in the cottage so that he might be near at hand to work with the judge in the preparation of the defense, and he came out from the city every evening. It was now June. The senate would not take action until it convened in December, but there was a lot of work to be done and no time to be lost.

The evening following the day of their arrival they were sitting on the porch enjoying the cool evening air after dinner. The judge was smoking. He was not a slave to the weed, but he enjoyed a quiet pipe after meals, claiming that it quieted his nerves and enabled him to think more clearly. Besides, it was necessary to keep at bay the ubiquitous Long Island mosquito. Mrs. Rossmore had remained for a moment in the dining room to admonish Eudoxia, their new and only maid of all work, not to wreck too much of the crockery when she removed the dinner dishes. Suddenly Stott, who was pursuing an evening paper, asked:

"By the way, where's your daughter?"

"Judge Rossmore started. By what mysterious agency had this man penetrated his own most intimate thoughts? He was himself thinking of Shirley that very moment, and by some inexplicable means—telepathy modern psychologists called it—the thought current had crossed to Stott, whose mind, being in full sympathy, was exactly attuned to receive it. Removing the pipe from his mouth, the judge replied:

"Shirley's in Paris. Poor girl, I hadn't the heart to tell her. She has no idea of what's happened. I didn't want to spoil her holiday."

He was silent for a moment; then after a few more puffs he added confidentially in a low tone, as if he did not care for his wife to hear:

"The truth is, Stott, I couldn't bear to have her return now. I couldn't look my own daughter in the face."

A sound as of a great sob which he had been unable to control cut short his speech. His eyes filled with tears, and he began to smoke furiously, as if ashamed of this display of emotion. Stott, blowing his nose with suspicious vigor, replied soothingly:

"You mustn't talk like that. Everything will come out all right, of course. But I think you are wrong not to have told your daughter. Her place is here at your side. She ought to be told even if only in justice to her. If you don't tell her, some one else will or, what's worse, she'll hear of it through the newspapers."

"Ah, I never thought of that!" exclaimed the judge, visibly perturbed at the suggestion about the newspapers.

"Don't you agree with me?" demanded Stott, appealing to Mrs. Rossmore, who emerged from the house at that instant. "Don't you think your daughter should be informed of what has happened?"

"Most assuredly I do," answered Mrs. Rossmore determinedly. "The judge wouldn't hear of it, but I took the law into my own hands. I've called for her."

"You called for Shirley?" cried the judge incredulously. He was so unaccustomed to seeing his ailing, vacillating wife do anything on her own initiative and responsibility that it seemed impossible. "You called for Shirley?" he repeated.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Rossmore triumphantly and secretly pleased that for once in her life she had asserted herself. "I called yesterday. I simply couldn't bear it alone any longer."

"What did you say?" inquired the judge apprehensively.

"I just told her to come home at once. Tomorrow we ought to get an answer."

Stott meantime had been figuring on the time of Shirley's probable arrival. If the cablegram had been received in Paris the previous evening, it would he too late to catch the French boat. The North German Lloyd steamer was the next to leave, and it touched at Cherbourg. She would undoubtedly come on that. In a week at most she would be here. Then it became a question as to who should go to meet her at the dock. The judge could not go, that was certain. It would be too much of an ordeal. Mrs. Rossmore did not know the lower part of the city well and had no experience in meeting ocean steamships. There was only one way out—would Stott go? Of course he would, and he would bring Shirley back with him to Massapequa.

So during the next few days while Stott and the judge toiled preparing their case, which often necessitated brief trips to the city, Mrs. Rossmore, seconded with sullen indifference by Eudoxia, was kept busy getting a room ready for her daughter's arrival.

Eudoxia, who came originally from County Cork, was an Irish lady with a thick brogue and a husky temper. She was amiable enough so long as things went to her satisfaction, but when they did not suit her she was a terror. She was neither beautiful nor graceful; she was not young nor was she very clean. Her usual condition was disheveled, her face was all askew, and when she dressed up she looked like a valentine. Her greatest weakness was a propensity for smashing dishes, and when reprimanded she would threaten to take her trapeze and skidoo. This news of the arrival of a daughter failed to fill her with enthusiasm. Firstly, it meant more work; secondly, she had not bargained for it. When she took the place it was on the understanding that the family consisted only of an elderly gentleman and his wife, that there was practically no work, good wages, plenty to eat, with the privilege of an evening out when she pleased. Instead of this millennium she soon found Stott stalled as a permanent guest, and now a daughter was to be foisted on her. No wonder hardworking girls were getting sick and tired of housework!

That evening Stott and the judge came home earlier than usual, and from their dejected appearance Mrs. Rossmore divined bad news. The judge was painfully silent throughout the meal, and Stott was unusually grave. Finally the latter took her aside and broke it to her gently. In spite of their efforts and the efforts of their friends the congressional inquiry had resulted in a finding against the judge, and a demand had already been made upon the senate for his impeachment. They could do nothing now but fight it in the senate with all the influence they could muster. It was going to be hard, but Stott was confident that right would prevail. After dinner as they were sitting in silence on the porch, each measuring the force of this blow which they had expected, yet had always hoped to ward off, the crunching sound of a bicycle was heard on the quiet country road. The rider stopped at their gate and came up the porch, holding out an envelope to the judge, who, guessing the contents, had started forward. He tore it open. It was a cablegram from Paris and read as follows:

"Am sailing on the Kaiser Wilhelm to-day."

CHAPTER VII.
THERE was greater activity in the Rossmore cottage at Massapequa than there had been any day since the judge and his wife went to live there. Since day-break Eudoxia had been scouring and polishing in honor of the expected arrival, and a hundred times Mrs. Rossmore had climbed the stairs to see that everything was as it should be in the room which had been prepared for Shirley. It was not, however, without a passage at arms that Eudoxia consented to consider the idea of an addition to the family. Mrs. Rossmore had said to her the day before:

"My daughter will be here tomorrow, Eudoxia."

A look expressive of both displeasure and astonishment marred the classic features of the hiredling. Putting her broom aside and placing her arms akimbo, she exclaimed in an injured tone:

"And it's a dayther you've got now? So it's three in family you are! When I took the place, it's two you told me there was!"

"Well, with your kind permission," replied Mrs. Rossmore, "there will be three in future. There is nothing in the constitution of the United States that says we can't have a daughter without consulting our help, is there?"

The sarcasm of this reply did not escape even the dull edged wits of the drudge. She relapsed into a dignified silence and a few minutes later was discovered working with some show of enthusiasm.

The judge was nervous and fidgety. He made a pretense to read, but it was plain to see that his mind was not on his book. He kept leaving his chair to go and look at the clock; then he would lay the volume aside and wander from room to room like a lost soul. His thoughts were on the dock at Hoboken.

By noon every little detail had been attended to, and there was nothing further to do but sit and wait for the arrival of Stott and Shirley. They were to be expected any moment now. The passengers had probably got off the steamer by 11 o'clock. It would take at least two hours to get through the customs and out to Massapequa. The judge and his wife sat on the porch counting the minutes and straining their ears to catch the first sound of the train from New York.

"I hope Stott broke the news to her gently," said the judge.

"I wish we had gone to meet her ourselves," sighed his wife.

The judge was silent, and for a moment or two he puffed vigorously at his pipe, as was his habit when disturbed mentally. Then he said:

"I ought to have gone, Martha, but I was afraid. I'm afraid to look my own daughter in the face and tell her that I am a disgraced man, that I am to be tried by the senate for corruption, perhaps impeached and turned off the bench as if I were a criminal. Shirley won't believe it; sometimes I can't believe it myself. I often wake up in the night and think of it as part of a dream, but when morning comes it's still true—it's still true!"

He smoked on in silence. Then happening to look up he noticed that his wife was weeping. He laid his hand gently on hers.

"Don't cry, dear; don't make it harder for me to bear. Shirley must see no trace of tears."

"I was thinking of the injustice of it all," replied Mrs. Rossmore, wiping her eyes.

"Fancy Shirley in this place, living from hand to mouth," went on the judge.

"That's the least," answered his wife. "She's a fine, handsome girl, well educated and all the rest of it. She ought to make a good marriage. No matter what state of mind Mrs. Rossmore might be in, she never lost sight of the practical side of things."

"Hardly with her father's disgrace hanging over her head," replied the judge, wearily. "Who," he added, "would have the courage to marry a girl whose father was publicly disgraced?"

Request from Mrs. M. D. Austin, residing on Jefferson street for permission to connect with sewer district No. 2, was refused as the council thought this would lead to other requests, and for too many to connect with No. 2, would be a disadvantage. The Home of the Friendless was given

Stuffy.

"I want a name for my villa. What would you suggest?"

"Nozone Cottage," replied the man who had been bitten by booklet.

BUSY SESSION OF THE LOWER BOARD

Enacts Several Ordinances of Importance

Cut Weeds, Keep Beggars Off Streets. Open Crossings and Improve Roadways.

CALDWELL PARK IS LATEST.

In the board of councilmen last night first passage was given the ordinance providing for the sale of a franchise for the operation of a street car line in Mechanicsburg. The route of the car is the same published, crossing Island creek on a trestle at Fifth street, and going to the city limits.

From the Charity club was received the request that house to house begging be stopped and that beggars be kept from the street, as the Charity club will keep all deserving people. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Some changes in the construction of First street are promised, as the council referred the complaint of property owners to the street committee to see the railroad officials and have changes made. Judge E. H. Puryear was present in behalf of Messrs. B. H. Scott and James Koger, owners of the peanut factory building.

Railroad men desire openings left in strings of freight cars in the shop yards, and a committee called on Mayor Yelzer last week and asked him to bring up the matter and see if the railroad company could not be compelled to keep the cars separate where streets would intersect. It is asserted by patrolmen that the Illinois Central railroad blocks Caldwell street near the Paducah Box and Basket factory. It was referred to the street and ordinance committees.

Must Cut Weeds.
Mayor Yelzer made the suggestion that an ordinance be brought in requiring everyone to keep the weeds cut on his lots, and the necessity was referred to the ordinance committee.

First passage was given the ordinance providing for the sale of a franchise for the operation of a telephone system in Paducah, and the terms are for its operation 20 years and $20 a year will be charged for business phones and $18 a year for residence telephones. A bond of $5,000 is furnished the city. It will be a duplicate of the Home Telephone company franchise.

Caldwell Park.
"Caldwell" park will be the name of the park established on the triangular lot on Trimble street donated to the city by Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Malory. It will be a public park.

Paducah is a member of the League of American Municipalities. The annual meeting will be held September 17-20 at Norfolk, and Mayor Yelzer was empowered to appoint representatives from the city. The city engineer and the president of the board of councilmen and aldermen will be appointed, the mayor assured the council.

The action of the aldermen in purchasing a fire alarm "joker" for Fourth street and Broadway was concurred in, and as soon as it arrives it will be placed in operation. Permission was granted Rhodes-Burford company, North Fourth street, and the Illinois Central railroad hospital, Broadway, to construct concrete sidewalks in front of their property. It was written as a resolution and given two passages.

The report of John J. Dorian, city treasurer, was received and filed. Apportionments were allowed, the city schools receiving $18,431, the park commissioners $2,000, the Carnegie library $2,000 and the sinking fund $4,000.

The mayor was empowered to renew the city's note for $10,000, which expires soon.

Tax books were ordered turned over to James Campbell Jr., back tax collector by the treasurer and auditor.

Second passage was given ordinance for grading and graveling of Fifteenth street between Broadway and Kentucky avenue.

First and second passage were given the ordinance requiring plumbers to place mains 3 1/2 feet below the grade, and all connections 2 1/2 feet below the grade. For the violation of the ordinance a penalty from $10 to $50 is provided.

Second passage was given the ordinance providing for storm water sewers on Broadway from between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets to Twenty-third street. Property owners want it extended to Twenty-fifth street, but the city engineer says the water may be led off, and the sewer will extend only to Twenty-third street.

Second passage was given the ordinance amending the ordinance for sewer district No. 2, for the construction of house laterals.

Request Refused.
Request from Mrs. M. D. Austin, residing on Jefferson street for permission to connect with sewer district No. 2, was refused as the council thought this would lead to other requests, and for too many to connect with No. 2, would be a disadvantage. The Home of the Friendless was given

Stuffy.

"I want a name for my villa. What would you suggest?"

"Nozone Cottage," replied the man who had been bitten by booklet.

en permission to connect with district No. 2.

An ordinance will be brought in providing for the grading and graveling of Clark street between Tenth and Eleventh streets. Considerable delay has been occasioned by looking for the title to the property, and it has been found to belong to the city and the improvement will be made now.

A resolution was passed asking the water company to extend its mains on Salem avenue, Palmer avenue and North Twelfth street, if a sufficient number of property owners will subscribe for the connections.

Request from Robert B. Richardson, assistant city engineer, for an increase in salary, was referred to the finance committee.

George Lehnhard, license inspector, was granted his ten days' vacation.

City Scales Test.
A set of government weights will be purchased by the city and kept in the office of the city scales, and when any question as to their accuracy arises they may be tested. Councilman Foreman reported their condition at present.

The report of Chief of Police Collins was received and filed. The amount of fines collected for the month was $688.50.

Saloon licenses were granted E. W. Berry, 298 Kentucky avenue; G. A. Goodman, and Thomas Boyle, 909 North Eighth street. Objections were offered to granting Berry and Boyle licenses, but the council granted them.

Mrs. Mary E. House was granted a deed to a lot in Oak Grove cemetery.

A new house will have to be built for the sexton at Oak Grove cemetery, or extensive repairs made to the present residence. Councilman Tuttle said it was merely an old shell, and having been moved several times to repair it would be throwing away money. Plans for a new house were ordered drawn.

The city engineer will investigate stagnant water on Husbards street.

Col. Joseph E. Potter complained of the bad condition of an alley in the rear of his property on North Third street, and the board of public works was instructed to look into the matter.

If the city will extend Jackson street straight through to Guthrie avenue, Mrs. Margaret Arts will dedicate her property free. The deed was referred to the street committee for acceptance.

Manager J. B. Allen, of the Postal Telegraph company, complained that the company was over assessed and the complaint was referred to the board of supervisors.

Councilmen Herzog and Flournoy were the absentees from last night's meeting.

It isn't because they are looking for an excuse to applaud that he neighbors are induced to keep an eye on you.

Even though we had no trouble with our employees in securing increased wages, and the closed shop, with another increase at the end of the first year, on a three-year contract, we are not going to QUIT.

Some of the other trades are not so fortunate as the printers. Few of them have such good employers. We propose to continue aiding these men in their struggle for good conditions and the closed shop.

We intend to keep up the fight for the UNION LABEL and for the UNION STORE CARD.

We may also at times look into the matter of child labor and other things affecting the welfare of the workingman.

Then again, we want you to buy PADUCAH cigars, PADUCAH newspapers, shave with PADUCAH barbers, deposit your money in PADUCAH banks (if you have any), and patronize home industry and Union products all the time.

Our employers do good printing, their pay-rolls go into the Paducah market. Let them do your printing and advertising.

The war is still on for the sign of quality—THE LABEL!

SHOP MEN HURRY PLANS FOR PICNIC

Committees Named Get Down to Work at Once

Three Go to Kuttawa Today to Fix Grounds and Arrange Details for Big Event.

PERSONNEL OF COMMITTEES.

Realizing that haste must be exercised in arranging for the big Illinois Central shop employees' outing, to be given at Kuttawa on August 14, authority for which came yesterday, committees were appointed yesterday by shop employees and this morning the committee on site and ground arrangements left for Kuttawa to begin work. The committee is composed of Messrs. Fred Flanagan, machinist chairman; Clarence Ellithorpe, machinist; and Virge G. Berry, of the planing mill. All arrangements for site, the dancing pavilion and baseball grounds will be made today, and the committee will return tonight at 6 o'clock.

Other Committees. Committees were appointed for each division of shops to see how many tickets will be desired. It is necessary to do this in order to learn the number of passengers and how many cars will be needed. It is estimated that the train will be made up of fully sixteen coaches and two baggage cars.

The committees: Boiler shops—Percy Judd and Hugh Miller; blacksmith shops, James Hutchins and John Smith; machine shops, Tom Hofflich and W. R. Davis; planing mill, Sterling Price and Harry Judd; freight car shops, Gourieux gang, William Stagganburg and Samuel Bingham; Bennett gang, Will Gilbert and Joe Vogt; paint shops, Frank Clark and Steve Barger; tin shops, Thomas McGarrigal and George Hanlin; round house, Thomas Yopp and Jess Arnold.

Committees got down to business this morning before the work hour, but it will require at least two days to settle how many will go. Each shop employee is entitled to take his family, but in many instances tickets get to outsiders who are in no way connected with the railroad. Efforts to avoid this will be made this year. The greatest of vigilance will be exercised to avoid accidents of any kind, and to assure the annual picnic being permanent hereafter.

RIVER NEWS

River Report.

Cairo	26.9	0.7	fall
Chattanooga	3.5	0.1	fall
Cincinnati	12.3	1.8	fall
Evansville	14.3	1.0	fall
Florence	p. 0	0.5	fall

Nashville	8.0	0.2	rise
Pittsburg	5.6	0.7	rise
St. Louis	20.9	0.6	fall
Mt. Vernon	13.9	0.9	fall
Paducah	14.2	0.4	fall

Low water is the spectre that haunts the river nowadays as every indication to the older prophets points toward that condition. But weather prophets have so generally been reversed this year by nature that the year may pass without many of the boats having to lay up.

Two more of the Ryman line packets will arrive the latter part of this week to lay up in Paducah. The Reuben Dunbar and the Henry Harley, both light draught boats, will wait here to take the place of any of the heavier packets that may have to lay up on account of low water. They have to come now to get over the low places in the Cumberland river. The J. B. Richardson is here and the Buttorff will remain at Nashville until fall, receiving repairs.

The river fell 0.4 in the last 24 hours in the face of a rainfall of .28 inches. Little rain is falling above and the shallow places in the Ohio are getting conspicuous. The stage this morning was 14.2.

With the last tow of coal, probably of the season, the Harvester left Louisville last night with 18 barges of coal for the West Kentucky Coal company here. The Caseyville mines are always accessible.

Indications are that one or two tow boats may come from Nashville to Paducah for repairs on the dry docks, in the next week or two.

Beginning next Friday, the Chattanooga will make weekly trips from Paducah to Waterloo, Ala. Warer in her far end of the Tennessee river is too low to get to Chattanooga. The Chattanooga will arrive Thursday and leave Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Freight will be re-handled at Waterloo, over the railroad for Chattanooga.

Inspectors Green and St. John arrived last night and this morning inspected the towboat Lyda. The Lyda has been waiting several days for the inspectors. Messrs. Green and St. John will be here until tomorrow and several surprise inspections may be made.

Many Paducah caulkers and ship carpenters are in Cairo working on the coal combine's barges and boats. Only low water will make business pick up sharply at the repairing plants here. As long as a barge can be kept running by pumping, the demand for them is so great that the companies will not stop for repairs. Low water would cause lay-ups that would give them a breathing spell for repairs.

Explaining the reason for the scarcity of barges in a time of strong demand, Captain Mike Williams of the ways, said that builders will not build barges until they have orders from the companies, and the companies do not order until sheer necessity forces them to do so. Consequently, a situation like the present one, is seen frequently on the river. There are few barges in good condition seen in the local harbor. A few more months and the old barges will be giving out by the wholesale and unless orders are in for new ones, a greater stringency will be felt, provided, of course, the phenomenal river business now enjoyed, keep up.

None of the Fowler line packets will run excursions on the river August 8, and while the George Cowling and Royal will handle large crowds, the other packets probably will not notice the day. Most of the towboats will be tied up, not only on that day, but until the participants in the celebration recover from the effects of their pleasure, which usually requires several days afterward.

The Castalia left today for the Tennessee river after lumber and ties for the Ayer-Lord Tie company. Only one company was reported as unloading ties at Joppa yesterday. Some of the tie carriers have left Joppa for other places.

The Fannie Wallace returned today from Caseyville with coal for the West Kentucky Coal company.

A pump boat belonging to the Lyda sank at Joppa yesterday. The Lyda will go down to look after it.

Peanuts are being piled up in the Tennessee river warehouses, but as yet the packets have not begun bringing them out. The Clyde arrived last night from the Tennessee river with lumber and produce and is unloading at Joppa today.

According to a Joppa steamboat man, 33,000,000 feet of lumber have been brought up to Joppa since the first of the year, from the Mississippi river, for re-shipment north. Joppa has so much better facilities for handling steamboat freight than Cairo, that all this business marches right past that city's doors. This man was commenting on the action of Cairo railroads in allowing so much business to go up stream to a rival road.

The Bob Dudley will arrive tomorrow from Nashville and leave at noon of the same day for that city.

The Scotia has gone to Cairo after barges and returning will go to the Tennessee river after lumber.

The Sallilo will leave St. Louis tomorrow afternoon for the Tennessee river arriving here Thursday night or Friday morning.

The J. B. Richardson will run an excursion to Kuttawa and Eddyville Sunday, as well as one from Cairo for the colored people Thursday.

E. G. Riggs, traffic manager of the Chattanooga Packet company, will arrive Thursday on a business trip.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio at Evansville and Mt. Vernon will continue falling during the next two days. At Paducah and Cairo, will continue falling during the next three days.

The Tennessee at Florence, will continue falling during the next 36 hours, passing below two foot stage Tuesday. At Johnsonville, not much change during the next 24 hours.

The Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo, will continue falling during the next two days.

SAM ABEL'S FLAT WHEEL
MADE HIM CONSPICUOUS.

They were side streets and alleys taken by Samuel Abel, the well known young clerk of the B. Wellie & Sons store, when returning home last night after an outing. He shunned his acquaintances, and looked with suspicion and embarrassment on everyone he met. Minutes seemed hours to him, and he heaved a sigh of relief when he finally reached his room. He had to walk the entire distance from the gasoline boat garage near George street to his home with only one shoe. Abel was one of a large party of young men chartering a gasoline boat and going to Livingston point last night for a swim. He was reckless in his haste to get into the inviting water, and throwing one shoe at the stern of the boat saw it sink through the rudder hole and into the waters of the Ohio river, hopelessly lost.

Fire in an Outhouse.

Fire originating from children at play in the woodshed of Mrs. Addie Moore in Little's addition, called out the Nos. 2 and 4 fire companies this morning between 4 and 5 o'clock. Children yesterday afternoon placed rags and old bran sacks in the woodshed and were playing with fire. It is presumed the rags smoldered through the night and leaped into flames this morning, igniting the roof. The damage will amount to but a few dollars. The residence is located about one square from the Illinois Central passenger station.
